Author's Notes:
Cool tattoo, I wish I was tattooed on his arm.

Her hot breath against my skin, her dark eyes closed, dark lashes against her pale cheeks. Her face tattooed on my arm. I stroked her shiny dark hair, knowing that I could never have her. I felt the pull in my stomach, the twist and pull of desire. I pressed my lips against hers, feeling the wax of the red lipstick. I tugged at the hooks to her bra. I whispered to her that I loved her, and she stirred and pulled away from me. Tears blurred my vision. I wanted to cry again, this girl always made me cry.
